

Slant Point

For the best in right wing news from the heart of New York City.

SLANT POINT INTERVIEWS

NEW! NYC Mayor's Race: Ten Questions with Steve Shaw (5/16)
NYC Mayor's Race: Ten Questions with Tom Ognibene (4/22)
 Coming Soon Adam Brecht, William Brenner...

SlantPoint@Gmail.com

NYC EVENTS

May 2005

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31

* Click date to stay open
 << -current month- >>

RECENT COMMENTS

leftiereader: Gosh, such cutting invective! I'm sure Arianna is shaking i...
 [Liberal Spell-Casting]

Tom: "Here, let me unbutton your jacket and see if you really DO ..."
 [Week 20 Photo Caption Contest]

karen klausmeyer: "bewitched, bothered and bewildered" ...
 [Liberal Spell-Casting]

Chris: If this is the best Freddie can come up with then we got 4 m...
 [Freddie's Adventures in the Land of the Lost]

Chris: As a Life long NYer I have to say that rebuilding a new and ...
 [Trump Towers?]

nice shoes: I train boy democrats from about this height....
 [Liberal Spell-Casting]

Buck: Congratulations! That's a lovely Communist-Red gown you're w...
 [Week 20 Photo Caption Contest]

May 18

UN Film Festival in NYC This Weekend

There is a UN Film Festival this weekend in New York City. Expect a serious amount of PR, but some genuine insight into what the UN does around the world. I think a lot of people could benefit from seeing the good work the feet on the ground do, despite the serious failings of UN leadership lately.

Whatever your stripes, the festival runs all weekend and is not expensive - $20 per day.

Posted on May 18 at 11:15 AM

Blogroll Me! | Permalink | Comments \(0\) | Trackbacks \(0\)

Technorati Tags: UN+Film+Festival New+School+Films World+Policy+Insitute+Films

Animated Arianna

All the action has been Arianna for the last day here at Slant Point, and I'm excited to offer even more antics courtesy of the great and talented Dan Riehl. Also big thanks to Michelle Malkin for the widespread distribution.

Click here to view Animated Arianna.

Posted on May 18 at 9:39 AM

Blogroll Me! | Permalink | Comments \(0\) | Trackbacks \(0\)

Technorati Tags: animated+arianna arianna+huffington huffington+jarvis huffington+spell

Escuche al Alcalde

Bloomberg speaks in Spanish in some Latino-market TV ads. The major media outlets cover the story - in writing. How dense can they be?

It doesn't take a genius to know the number one thing on a person's mind when they hear this story is "What does Bloomberg sound like?" You know - accent? A natural or memorized?

Do any of these wealthy media companies care to spend a dime to treat their online customers to some sound? NYTimes? - no and no. NY Daily News? - no. 1010 WINS? - no. WNBC? - no.

Finally - Newsday comes through - well, not here, but HERE (right column)! Right on Long Island.

And Bloomberg is right on the mark in these ads. His accent is not half-bad, which should be expected, and he appears sincere. My only complaint is that he wasn't in a suit. Why the casual look? Nevertheless, Bloomberg is smart and smart and smart. His outreach - at least for him - continues to amaze me.

Posted on May 18 at 8:00 AM

Blogroll Me! | Permalink | Comments \(0\) | Trackbacks \(0\)

Technorati Tags: Bloomberg+Spanish+ads Bloomberg+Espanol Bloomberg+Latino+ads